

Art

- The 4 year old has learned about basic human form and proportions by attempting to draw stick people.
- Through this activity, the child has explored creativity and self-expression by creating their own unique stick figures.
- They have developed fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination while using drawing materials to create their stick people.

For continued development, encourage the student to add more details to their stick people, such as clothing, accessories, and backgrounds. This can help them expand their creativity and storytelling abilities.
