

Core Skills Analysis

English

- The student learned about the importance of adaptation in storytelling by comparing the elements that were altered or included in the movie adaptation of 'The BFG' compared to the original book.
- By analyzing the characters in both the book and the movie, the student gained insights into character development techniques and how characters are portrayed differently across different mediums.
- Through the comparison of the plot structures in the book and the movie, the student deepened their understanding of narrative arcs and how they can be transformed in visual storytelling.
- The student also explored the concept of visual literacy by examining how scenes and settings were translated from the book to the movie, enhancing their grasp of descriptive language and visual representation.

Tips

To further enhance the learning experience after reading and watching 'The BFG,' students can engage in creative writing activities such as crafting alternate endings for either the book or the movie, or writing character analysis essays comparing the portrayal of characters in both versions. They could also explore the process of adaptation by brainstorming ideas for adapting another favorite book into a movie, encouraging critical thinking and creativity. Encouraging discussions about the differences between the book and movie adaptations can also help develop analytical skills and deepen comprehension.

Book Recommendations

- Matilda by Roald Dahl: A captivating story about a young girl with telekinetic powers, filled with themes of bravery and empowerment.
- Charlie and the Chocolate Factory by Roald Dahl: Join Charlie Bucket on his extraordinary adventure through Willy Wonka's chocolate factory, exploring themes of imagination and fairness.
- The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe by C.S. Lewis: Step into the magical world of Narnia with the Pevensie siblings, encountering themes of courage, sacrifice, and loyalty.