

Core Skills Analysis

Religious Studies & Communication

- Atlanta practiced sharing her faith ideas clearly and confidently in a public setting, enhancing her evangelism skills.
- She developed public speaking abilities, including organizing her thoughts and speaking to a diverse audience during the church outreach.
- The activity helped Atlanta understand the importance of community service and connecting with others through outreach.
- Atlanta likely explored concepts of empathy and persuasion by engaging with people and sharing messages that resonate with them.

Tips

To deepen Atlanta's skills and understanding, consider encouraging her to prepare mini speeches on various topics of personal or community importance, allowing her to practice structure and clarity. Role-playing exercises can help her anticipate different audience questions and responses, building her empathy and adaptability. Engage her in planning a small outreach project, such as creating informative flyers or coordinating a service event, to foster leadership and organizational skills. Integrating reflective journaling after each outreach session can help Atlanta assess her communication effectiveness and personal growth.

Book Recommendations

- Speak Up with Confidence by Jack Valenti: A practical guide for young speakers to build public speaking skills and confidence.
- Evangelism for Kids: Sharing Your Faith by Robert Raines: An accessible introduction to understanding and sharing faith in a simple and relatable way.
- The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens by Sean Covey: A motivational book that encourages developing communication, leadership, and interpersonal skills.

Learning Standards

- CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.SL.6.4 - Present claims and findings clearly and logically in speaking engagements.
- CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.SL.6.1 - Engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions with diverse partners.
- CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.6.2 - Write informative/explanatory texts to examine topics and convey ideas clearly (applicable if writing speeches).

Try This Next

- Create a worksheet that guides Atlanta to outline and practice a 3-minute evangelism speech with key points and a call to action.
- Organize a friendly debate or discussion group where she can practice persuasive communication and listening skills.

Growth Beyond Academics

This activity likely fostered Atlanta's confidence and sense of purpose as she engaged in meaningful community interaction. Public speaking and outreach may also have encouraged patience and empathy, as she learned to listen and respond to others' perspectives. Successfully addressing groups can boost her self-esteem and independence.