

Social Studies

- The child learned about the importance of preserving historical artifacts.
- They gained an understanding of different types of historical artifacts, such as documents, tools, and artwork.
- They explored how historical artifacts can provide insights into different time periods and cultures.
- They discovered the process of researching and documenting historical artifacts.

For continued development, encourage the child to create their own "museum" of historical artifacts. They can gather objects around their home that represent different time periods or cultures, research their significance, and display them with informative labels. This hands-on activity will deepen their understanding of historical artifacts and allow them to practice research skills.
