

History

- The child learned about the daily life of people during the medieval period, such as their clothing, food, and activities.
- The child gained knowledge about the role of knights, kings, and queens in medieval society.
- The child learned about medieval weapons and their uses in battles.
- The child got an understanding of the importance of castles and their design in medieval times.

Encourage the child to further explore the medieval period by reading historical fiction books set in that time period. They can also research more about famous medieval figures or events, and even try their hand at creating their own medieval-inspired artwork or crafts.

Science

- The child learned about the basics of the science behind catapults and trebuchets, which were used as siege weapons in medieval times.
- The child gained knowledge about the different types of armor worn by knights and the materials used in their construction.
- The child learned about the agricultural practices of the medieval period, including crop rotation and the use of animals for farming.
- The child gained understanding of the impact of the Black Death during the medieval period and its spread.

Encourage the child to explore more about medieval technology and inventions, such as the printing press or the use of herbs for medicine. They can also conduct simple experiments related to medieval science, like testing the strength of different materials for armor.

Social Studies

- The child learned about the feudal system and the hierarchy of society in medieval times.
- The child gained knowledge about different medieval trades and occupations, such as blacksmithing, farming, and weaving.
- The child learned about the importance of chivalry and the code of conduct followed by knights.
- The child got an understanding of the role of the church and religion in medieval society.

Encourage the child to dive deeper into the social aspects of the medieval period by researching specific medieval towns or cities and their unique characteristics. They can also explore the different roles of men and women during that time, or even create their own medieval-inspired board game.

Book Recommendations

- The Knight at Dawn by Mary Pope Osborne: Join Jack and Annie as they travel back to the time of knights and castles in this exciting Magic Tree House adventure.
- The Door in the Wall by Marguerite de Angeli: This Newbery Medal-winning novel tells the story of a young boy named Robin who overcomes physical challenges and finds his place in medieval society.
- The Castle in the Attic by Elizabeth Winthrop: Follow William as he embarks on an incredible adventure inside a magical castle and learns about loyalty, bravery, and the power of imagination.

If you click on these links and make a purchase, we may receive a small commission.