

English Language Arts

- The child learned about the importance of using bookmarks to keep track of the last-read page in a book.
- They practiced using descriptive language to write about their favorite book or character on the bookmark.
- The activity encouraged the child to engage with different genres of literature, as they chose books to create bookmarks for.
- They practiced summarizing the main events or themes of a book, as they reflected on what to include on the bookmark.

For continued development, the child could create bookmarks for specific genres, such as mystery or fantasy, and write brief summaries of books within those genres. They could also explore creating bookmarks that include quotes from the books they are reading, enhancing their understanding of literary elements such as theme and character development.

Book Recommendations

- The Chocolate Touch by Patrick Skene Catling: A fun and engaging story about a boy who turns everything he touches into chocolate.
- The Mouse and the Motorcycle by Beverly Cleary: A classic tale of friendship and adventure involving a daring mouse and a toy motorcycle.
- The BFG by Roald Dahl: A whimsical story about a giant and a little girl, filled with imagination and wonder.

If you click on these links and make a purchase, we may receive a small commission.