

Hi there! Have you ever seen a snow leopard? It's a big cat that lives in places with lots of snow and rocks. Now, do you know why a snow leopard has spots all over its fur?

Well, the spots help the snow leopard hide! The spots look like the grey rocks and white snow around it. This way, when the snow leopard wants to rest or sneak up on something, it doesn't stand out. It's like wearing a special coat that makes it look invisible!

Isn't that cool? Nature made the snow leopard's fur just right, so it can live safely in its snowy, rocky home.