

Hi! When you start learning karate, you wear a special outfit called a karate uniform. It helps you move easily and feel ready to practice. Let's see what makes up a karate uniform:

- Gi (or Karate Gi): This is the main part of the uniform. It's a white jacket and pants made from strong fabric so you can move and practice comfortably.
- Belt (Obi): This is a colored belt you tie around your waist. It shows your level or rank in karate. Beginners usually start with a white belt.

So, a karate uniform has two main parts: the white gi (jacket and pants) and your belt!

Wearing your uniform makes you look like a karate kid ready to learn and have fun!