

Hi! Let's talk about the cool brown spots on a giraffe's skin.

Giraffes have big brown spots all over their bodies, and these spots are special for a few reasons:

- Camouflage: The spots help giraffes blend in with the trees and bushes around them, so it's harder for animals like lions to see them.
- Keeping Cool: Under each spot, giraffes have lots of blood vessels. These help them get rid of extra heat and keep cool in the hot sun.
- Unique Patterns: Every giraffe has its own pattern of spots, kind of like a fingerprint, so they can tell each other apart.

So, those brown spots aren't just pretty—they help giraffes stay safe and comfortable in the wild!
