

What is a Fire Brigade on a Call?

A fire brigade is a group of people, called firefighters, who help keep us safe from fire. Sometimes, when there is a fire or an emergency, they get a call. A call is like a phone ringing, but it's for a very important reason!

Step 1: The Call

When someone sees a fire or needs help, they call the fire station. This is like saying, 'Help, please!' to the firefighters.

Step 2: Getting Ready

As soon as the firefighters get the call, they rush to get ready. They put on their special clothes, which are thick and safe, and jump on big red trucks.

Step 3: Driving Quickly

The firefighters drive quickly to where they are needed. The trucks have loud sirens that go 'Woo-woo-woo!' so everyone knows they are coming. It is important to move quickly to help people!

Step 4: Helping

When they arrive, the firefighters look for the fire or the problem. They use water hoses to put out fires, and they help anyone else who might need it. Just like superheroes, they want everyone to be safe!

Step 5: Going Home

Once everything is okay, the firefighters go back to their fire station. They can rest and be ready for the next call, because they always want to help when someone needs them!

So, a fire brigade on a call means that the firefighters are answering an important call to help keep everyone safe from fire.
