

When discussing anatomy informally, especially in slang, there are many vulgar terms used for the anus. These terms often arise in casual or humorous contexts, and their usage can vary widely depending on cultural, regional, and social factors.

Some commonly known vulgar slang terms for the anus include:

- Ass - A very common term, used both to refer to the buttocks and the anus.
- Butthole - Directly referring to the opening of the anus in a somewhat crude manner.
- Backdoor - A euphemism referencing the anus, often used in sexual or comedic contexts.
- Brown eye - A slang term referring to the appearance of the anus.
- Ring - This can refer to the shape of the anus.
- Booty hole - Similar to butthole, informal and somewhat playful.
- Pooper - Sometimes used childishly or humorously, referring to the anus or the act of defecation.

It's important to remember that these terms are considered vulgar or informal, and their use may be offensive in certain contexts. It's always best to consider the setting and audience before using such language.