

What Do Firefighters Wear?

Firefighters wear special clothes called firefighter gear. This gear helps keep them safe when they are putting out fires or helping people.

Why Are Firefighter Clothes Special?

These clothes are made from strong materials that can resist heat and fire. They also have special coatings to keep firefighters dry and protect them from smoke. Here are some key parts:

- Jacket: The jacket is thick and helps protect firefighters from getting burned.
- Pants: The pants are also thick and are designed to protect their legs.
- Helmet: Firefighters wear helmets to protect their heads from falling things and heat.
- Boots: Their boots are heavy and keep their feet safe from sharp objects and hot surfaces.
- Gloves: Gloves protect their hands when they handle hot things or debris.

What Else Do They Wear?

Firefighters often wear a breathing mask so they can breathe clean air when there is too much smoke. This is very important so they can see and work safely.

How Does Their Gear Help Them?

The clothes and equipment that firefighters wear help them do their job better. They can put out fires more safely, and they can save people and pets who need help. The bright colors of their gear also help people see them easily!

In Conclusion

Firefighters' clothes are very important for keeping them safe while they work. They make sure that firefighters can do their job without getting hurt, so they can help others!
