

What is a School Bus?

A school bus is a big, yellow vehicle that takes children to and from school. It is a safe way for kids to travel with many of their friends.

How Does a School Bus Work?

When it's time for school, the bus comes to pick up the children at their homes or designated stops. The driver helps everyone get on safely, and then they drive to school! After school, the bus takes the children back home.

Why is the School Bus Important?

School buses are important because they help keep kids safe while they are traveling. They have special lights so that other cars know to stop when kids are getting on or off. Also, it helps reduce the number of cars on the road, which is better for the environment!

Fun Fact!

Did you know that school buses are designed to be very strong? They are built to protect the kids inside in case of an accident. That's why they are bigger and a different color than regular cars!
