

Okay, little friend! Do you know how sometimes we need to get places really quickly? Well, police cars are special cars that help keep us safe, and that's why they are built to go super fast!

Imagine if there's a fire or someone needs help! The police need to get there as quickly as possible to help everyone. Just like how a superhero flies fast to save the day, police cars have special things that make them speedy!

The wheels are strong, and the engine is super powerful. They also have bright lights and loud sirens, like a big alarm, to let everyone know they're on their way. So, when you see a police car zooming by, it's because they need to help people, and being fast is really important for that!

So, police cars are built to speed, just like how our favorite race cars are built to race, but their job is to make sure everyone is safe!
