

Okay, kiddo! So, imagine you have a big box of toys. If you wanted to show your friend your favorite toy, you could run to them really fast, right? Well, the fire service is like the super-fast friends who come to help us when there's a fire or another emergency!

When someone needs help, they call the fire truck (like using your toy phone). The fire service team hears the call and jumps into their big, shiny fire truck. They are ready to go super fast, just like when you're racing to the playground!

Because they practice a lot and have special tools, they can get to places quicker than most people. This way, they can help keep us safe when something bad happens. It's like having a team of superheroes who can come to the rescue right away!
