

Hi Vienna! You might have noticed that most seagulls are white, and that's a great question! Let me explain it step by step.

1. Camouflage: The main reason why many seagulls are white is to help them blend in with their environment. When they are flying over the ocean, their white color helps them look like the waves and the foam created by the water. This makes it harder for predators to spot them.

2. Sun Protection: White feathers also help protect seagulls from the sun. Just like wearing a white shirt on a hot day keeps you cooler than wearing a black one, their light color reflects sunlight, helping them stay comfortable.

3. Health and Cleanliness: Seagulls clean their feathers regularly by preening. White feathers can show when they are dirty, encouraging these birds to stay clean and healthy, which is essential for flying and hunting.

4. Species Variation: It's worth noting that not all seagulls are completely white. Some have gray or black markings. These colors can come from various factors, including their age, species, and where they live.

So, the next time you see a seagull, remember that their white color helps them survive in many ways!
