

A train driver is a very important person who helps run the train. Imagine a big, long train with lots of cars. The train driver sits in the front, just like a captain on a boat!

First, the train driver makes sure everything is working properly. They check controls, just like how you might check if your toy is working! Then, when the train is ready to go, the driver pushes a button to start moving.

While the train travels, the driver watches the tracks and makes sure to go slow around curves and stops. It's just like when you walk and need to be careful not to trip!

Finally, when it's time to stop, the driver gently presses another button to slow down the train and help it stop safely. So, the train driver helps everyone on the train have a fun and safe ride.
