

An accordion is a cool musical instrument that makes sounds when you play it! It has round buttons and some parts that look like piano keys. The best part is the bellows, which are like a big folding book that can be pulled apart and pushed back together.

When you pull the bellows, air goes inside, and it makes music through the buttons and keys. It's like giving the accordion a big hug and then a big breath! Each button or key plays a different note, just like how each piano key plays a different sound. It's a fun way to make music, and you can play all sorts of songs with it!
