

Let's break down the sentence: 'The squirrel has a nice orange coat.'

1. What is a squirrel? A squirrel is a small animal with a bushy tail. They often like to climb trees and eat nuts.
2. What does 'nice' mean? When we say something is 'nice,' we mean it's pleasing or looks good.
3. What is an 'orange coat'? A 'coat' here refers to the fur that covers the squirrel's body. An 'orange coat' means that the fur is a bright orange color.

So, when we say 'The squirrel has a nice orange coat,' we are saying that the squirrel's fur is pretty and bright orange. Imagine a fluffy little squirrel with colors like a sunset!
