

A House Starts with a Plan

Building a house is like making a giant puzzle! First, we need a special plan that shows what the house will look like. This plan is very important because it tells us where everything goes.

After we have our plan, we need to make a strong base or foundation. This is like the feet of the house, helping it to stand up and not fall over.

Next, we start adding the walls. The walls are like the arms of the house, they hold everything inside! We build the walls tall and strong to make sure they can support the roof.

Finally, we put on the roof. The roof is like a hat for the house that keeps rain, snow, and sun out. It makes the house cozy and safe!

So, remember: first the plan, then the base, next the walls, and finally the roof. Just like building a cool fort, step by step!
