

The Wolf's Home: A Lair Under Stones

Hi there, little explorer! Today, we are going to learn about where wolves live. Wolves are really cool animals, and they have a special home called a lair.

A lair is like a cozy room for a wolf, where they can sleep and stay safe. You know what? Sometimes, wolves make their lairs under big, flat stones or even in the ground. This keeps them safe from other animals and from bad weather!

Here's how it works:

1. Finding a Place: Wolves look for a nice, quiet spot. They want a place that is hidden and safe.
2. Using Stones: Sometimes, they find big stones that they can crawl under. These stones help to cover their lair.
3. Making it Comfy: Inside the lair, wolves might make it cozy by adding some soft grass or leaves. This helps to make their resting place nice and warm.

So, when you think of a wolf's home, just imagine a secret little space under stones where they can feel safe and snug! Isn't that interesting? The next time you see a stone, you can think about a wolf snuggling up in its lair underneath!
