

Materials Needed:

- Paper
- Crayons or colored pencils
- Simple character descriptions (can be written or printed)
- A very short, simple story (written or printed - see example below)

Lesson Time! Reading Adventure Zone!

Hey Adventurer! You know how in Fortnite, you explore maps, meet different characters, and complete missions to get that Victory Royale? Reading stories is kind of like that! Stories have characters, places (settings), and exciting things that happen (plots). Let's become Reading Detectives today!

1. Character Files (è@æè`fèš'è%o² - RÃ`nshi JuÃ©sÃ" - Meet the Characters)

In Fortnite, you see lots of cool characters, right? Like Peely the banana or Jonesy. Stories have characters too! They are the people, animals, or creatures the story is about.

Activity: Let's look at some character descriptions! (Teacher Note: Use simple descriptions like: 'This character wears a funny banana costume.' or 'This character looks like a brave knight.') Who is this character like? Are they silly? Brave? Sneaky? Good job identifying the character!

2. Map Check! (æŽčč´čžŽ`âčf - TÃ nsuÇ' HuÃinjÃ-ng - Explore the Setting)

Where do you land in Fortnite? On an island with places like Tilted Towers or Loot Lake, right? That's the 'setting' â€” where the action happens! Stories have settings too. It might be a forest, a castle, a house, or even outer space!

Activity: Let's imagine a setting. Close your eyes! Imagine a place with lots of tall, colorful buildings all close together, with roads in between. Where could this be? (e.g., A city). Now imagine a place with water, trees all around, and maybe a little fishing boat. Where could this be? (e.g., A lake). Great job describing the setting!

3. Mission Briefing! (æ•...äº<çš,,æf...èŠ, - GÃ¹shi de QÃngjiÃ© - The Story's Plot)

Every Fortnite match has a goal, like being the last one standing. Stories have a 'plot' - the important things that happen in order: a beginning, a middle, and an end. It's like a mini-mission!

Activity: Let's read a super short story! (Teacher Note: Use a simple, 3-5 sentence story. Example: 'Peely wanted to find the treasure chest. First, he looked near the big tree. Next, he peeked behind the rock. Finally, he found the sparkly chest under the bridge! His mission was complete.')

- Who was the main character? (Peely)
- What was his mission? (Find the treasure chest)
- What happened first? (Looked near the tree)
- What happened next? (Peeked behind the rock)
- What happened last/at the end? (Found the chest under the bridge)

Wow! You followed the whole plot! You understood the mission briefing!

4. Victory Royale! (Wrap-up)

Awesome job, Reading Adventurer! Today you learned how to find characters, settings, and follow the plot in a story, just like exploring and completing missions in a game! Keep practicing, and you'll become a reading champion!

Optional Fun: Draw a picture of Peely finding the treasure chest!
