

Wobbly Reading Adventures!

Let's use your interest in the super fun game, Wobbly Life, to practice our reading skills!

Materials Needed:

- Access to internet for looking up Wobbly Life information (official website, fan wikis, text-based guides)
 - Notebook or paper
 - Pencil or pen

Activity 1: Wobbly Word Discoveries

Just like finding hidden treasures in Wobbly Life, let's find interesting words! Find a description of a job (like Pizza Delivery), an item (like the Jetpack), or a location (like the Pet Shop) on a Wobbly Life website or wiki.

1. Read the description carefully.
 2. Find 3 words that are new or seem interesting to you.
 3. Write down the words.
 4. Look up what each word means.
 5. Write a sentence for each word, imagining how it relates to Wobbly Life. (Example: If you find the word 'transport', you could write: 'I need to transport the pizzas quickly in my Wobbly delivery car.')

Activity 2: Job Step Sequencing

Wobbly Life jobs have steps you need to follow. Let's practice putting steps in order!

1. Find a text guide or description that explains how to complete a specific job in Wobbly Life (like Garbage Collector or Farmer).
 2. Read the guide carefully.
 3. On your paper, write down the main steps needed to finish the job, in the correct order. Use sequence words like 'First', 'Next', 'Then', 'Finally'.
 4. Read your steps aloud. Do they make sense? Would following them help someone complete the job in the game?

Activity 3: The Main Idea Mission

Every mission or description has a main point, just like a quest objective!

1. Find a paragraph describing a secret, an update, or a fun activity in Wobbly Life.
 2. Read the paragraph.
 3. What is the single most important thing the paragraph is telling you? Write this down as the 'Main Idea'.
 4. Now, find 2-3 smaller pieces of information in the paragraph that support or explain the main idea. Write these down as 'Supporting Details'.

Activity 4: Wobbly Character Clues (Inferences)

Sometimes we have to figure things out that aren't directly stated – like guessing what a Wobbly character might be thinking!

1. Read a short description of a situation in Wobbly Life (e.g., 'The Wobbly character stood looking at the expensive sports car in the garage. They only had 10 coins.').
 2. Think about the clues. Answer these questions on your paper:
 - How might the Wobbly character be feeling? Why?
 - What might the character want to do next? Why do you think that?
 3. Discuss your answers. Good readers use clues to understand more!
