

Objective

By the end of this lesson, you will be able to understand and explain the basic survival techniques for surviving in the desert.

Materials and Prep

- Access to a computer or device with internet
- Pen and paper
- Optional: Books or articles about desert survival

Activities

1. Research and Take Notes:

Use the internet or books to research and find information about surviving in the desert. Take notes on important tips and techniques that you find.

2. Create a Desert Survival Guide:

Based on your research and notes, create a visually appealing and informative desert survival guide. Include important tips, techniques, and strategies for finding water, building shelter, and finding food in the desert.

3. Present Your Survival Guide:

Present your desert survival guide to a family member or friend. Explain the key points and demonstrate your understanding of the techniques you have learned.

Fifth Grade Talking Points

- "Surviving in the desert requires specific skills and knowledge."
- "Water is essential for survival in the desert. It's important to know how to find and conserve water."
- "Building a shelter can protect you from extreme temperatures and provide a safe place to rest."
- "Finding food in the desert can be challenging, but there are certain plants and animals that can be a source of sustenance."
- "It's important to stay calm, think clearly, and make smart decisions when faced with a survival situation in the desert."