Passage:

Once upon a time in a small village, there was a kind girl named Lila. Lila loved to help her neighbors and was known for her beautiful singing voice. Every morning, she would visit the village square and sing cheerful songs. The villagers loved listening to her because her music made everyone feel happy.

One day, a big storm hit the village. The wind howled, and the rain poured down. Many houses were damaged, and the villagers were scared. Lila decided to help her friends by singing a special song. She gathered everyone in the village square and began to sing. Her voice was so soothing that it calmed the villagers. They held hands and sang along with her, forgetting their fears.

After the storm passed, Lila and the villagers worked together to rebuild the village. They planted flowers and painted houses. Thanks to Lila's song, everyone remembered that as long as they worked together, they could overcome anything.
