History of Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving originated in the early 17th century when English Pilgrims settled in America. In 1621, the Pilgrims shared a harvest meal with the Wampanoag people, celebrating the successful harvest after a difficult year. This event is often considered the first Thanksgiving. Over the years, Thanksgiving became a time for families to gather, reflect, and give thanks for their blessings.

In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed Thanksgiving a national holiday to be celebrated on the last Thursday of November. In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt moved it to the second-to-last Thursday to extend the holiday shopping season, but this was met with public disapproval. In 1941, Congress declared Thanksgiving to be held on the fourth Thursday in November, where it remains today.
