

Instructions

Read the story carefully and answer the questions that follow.

The Story

One sunny afternoon, Sammy the Squirrel found a note hidden in a tree. The note said, "Help! I need someone to water my plants." Sammy wondered who could have written it. He decided to search for clues. Sammy walked through the forest and met Mr. Johnson, the old owl. Mr. Johnson said, "I didn't write the note, but I know who might need help." He pointed Sammy to a small cottage. Inside, Sammy found Mrs. Rabbit, who was feeling sick. Mrs. Rabbit explained her plants were dying, and she couldn't water them. Sammy happily agreed to help. Every day, Sammy watered the plants and watched them grow strong. Mrs. Rabbit recovered and thanked Sammy for his kindness. From that day on, Sammy and Mrs. Rabbit became good friends and took care of the garden together.

Questions

1. Who found the note in the tree?

2. What did Sammy do every day to help Mrs. Rabbit?

3. What happened to Sammy and Mrs. Rabbit at the end of the story?

4. Imagine you are Sammy. Why would you want to help Mrs. Rabbit? Use your own words.

Drawing Time!

Draw a picture of Sammy and Mrs. Rabbit working in the garden together.

< textarea class="long-response" name="drawing">